

6 Pancakes in San Diego You Need to Eat Right Now

Restaurants to Satisfy Your Sweet Tooth

March 19, 2016

Pancakes are like the most pivotal component of a delicious breakfast, and the must-have for a Sunday brunch. I mean who doesn't love warm, fluffy pancakes, with butter melting on top of them and dressed in thick, gooey maple syrup? The search is over, as we've come up with a list of the BEST pancakes offered in San Diego. Proceed with caution – you don't want to drool all over your keyboard.

Brian's 24 Restaurant & Bar

If you've had a late night out in The Gaslamp, head to Brian's 24. Get your pancake on with their buttermilk, healthy gourmet multigrain, nostalgic PB&J, or whatever hotcake catches your eye, which you can enjoy all day long. If your stomach is really grumbling, order The Ultimate Pancake Sandwich. This beast is made up of three buttermilk pancakes, two fried eggs, four strips of bacon and two sausage patties with warm syrup and whipped butter. Yum!

828 6th Ave

San Diego, CA 92101

619.702.8410